"Fairness First" seal for RUD, the gold medal of the economy

"Responsible and transparent" - this is how the German Innovation Institute for Sustainability and Digitalisation (DIND) evaluates RUD's work after a multi-stage analysis process and therefore awarded the

"Fairness First" seal. Together with the business magazine DUP UNTERNEHMER, the DIND introduced this award to highlight companies that behave in a particularly exemplary manner towards employees, suppliers and customers and act responsibly and transparently with regard to social, ecological and economic aspects.

The award is intended to send out an important signal for all business relationships and help to attract positive attention in the competition for customers, business partners and employees.

"We are delighted to receive this fantastic award because it once again demonstrates to our business partners and employees that fairness and responsibility are part of RUD's DNA," says Jörg S. Rieger, Ph.D., member of the RUD Management Board.
